

Divine Healing working in Partnership with the Science of Prayer.

An effective healer is one who is attached to the Divine and detached from the self, the ego. We are invited by the Creator to remain focussed, not on what we can do as healers but on what God can and will do through our childlike trust and simplicity.

But what is the science of prayer? Saint Francis of Assisi held the view that prayer is a conscious awareness of the presence of the Divine God in everything that lives, moves and breathes as having their existence from Source – the Creator. The science of prayer is a collective response of uniting minds and hearts to send out positive love and light (Christ Consciousness) to the universe. Collective prayer ‘love and light’ will prevent ancient prophecies, as predicted by Nostradamus, from having a devastating impact upon our society and the earth. So, rather than wait for these to happen, we as Light Workers should be forming a collective of ‘Love and Light co-operatives that will reprogramme the DNA of all mankind and turning a negative mindset into a positive mindset.

Prayer is a working from one’s heart centre (Christ Consciousness) and connecting with all that we truly are as a Child of God, a child of the light. We are empowered by the healing essence of Divine Love to connect with the Source and through our very existence as a child of God, we become co creators of the Divine for the Divine and with the Divine. Our daily contact with God through nature and working with the angels of the Nine Choirs as well as the Angels of the Four Spheres, the elements of earth, fire, water, air we are transformed into living sanctuaries where the Creator God lives. Even the animal kingdom has an angelic presence that connects with our soul when we have had the scales of ‘self hate’ removed. The angels of the Earth Realm and the animal kingdom are our teachers as they know only selfless love for their Creator and in turn manifest this to everything that lives, that moves and has their existence from Source.

Prayer is not only that which we say or use in a Church. The science of prayer teaches us that when we embrace the God within our life and our life’s work as teachers and healers, we embrace Christ Consciousness we behold the face of God in its perfection and beauty. When the Creator made us he made perfection. When we operate from our ‘head centre’ we experience the ugly face of our humanity and imperfections and deny ourselves the opportunity to embrace selfless, reverent, healing love. In my latest book Sacred Tools, I have sought the feedback from a wide and diverse group of my students, therapists and clients who have portrayed an incredible picture of what prayer is and what it is not.

The presence of selfless love inspires us to release all negative energy and reclaim our divinity as a co creator of God. But first we have to connect and release our inner wounded child, before we can ‘Behold-Enfold-Hold-Listen’ to the sacred voices of pure Divine Love. It is regrettable that Religion over the centuries has distorted the simple message that God gave to his people down through the centuries. Instead of mankind being liberated for the Gospel of peace, love and light, men, women and children have become enslaved by mind controlling philosophies and ideologies that have separated us from a loving, selfless being of Light. Yet, we shoot the messenger before we hear the simple message of divine engagement to come and ‘Behold-Enfold-Hold and Listen’ to a God of love.

In my work as a therapist, teacher and pastoral counsellor, I am challenged by the indifferences that one meets from the ‘learned few’ who profess to love God and yet in their personal and professional lives, they lack the inner conviction that God does not necessarily = religion and servility. We are invited to come and see and then choose by exercising our free will to walk humbly with our God, the Creator of all that IS.

Many centuries ago, a group of dedicated scholars decided to vacate mainstream society and agreed to live in community in isolation from the negative energy of towns and cities. They lived usually in an oasis or by the lakes suitable for communing with their God three times daily through invoking the angels of Nature realms. They dedicated their lives to serving their God, sharing a common purpose with equality as their core values. Their love of the Holy Books and sacred writings of the ancients inspired them to painstakingly write down each document. The group were known as the Essenes and it was their teachings and simple philosophy “The Tree of Life” that inspired many great men and women to dedicate their lives to God in daily prayer both then and more importantly today. Several well-known names were members of this group. They were Jesus, John the Baptist, Peter, Mark, John and Mary Magdalene to name but a few.

In November 2003, we entered a new phase of enlightenment known as the Harmonic Concordance that facilitated a major shift or an awareness of spirituality in particular our own beliefs. Many scholars have reported the year 2012 as the dawn of the New Aquarius (Christ Consciousness) when we enter a major shift in Divine Consciousness that will directly have a positive impact for all who work as light workers and spiritual healers. In my forthcoming sequel to Angelic Energies, another book that is dear to my heart is ‘Let Your Light Shine for 2012, here I have documented a heart response to what I perceive will happen on the 21st December 2012 and where Jesus and Mary of Magdala feature in our ascension to 5th dimensional healing energies.

The word healer refers to God alone as it is the Creator who heals and transfers Divine energy through those who have rededicated their lives to being of service to God as potential healers. So many therapists who work in partnership with spiritual healing energy, fail to take care of their spiritual needs. They operate from a place of isolation and neglect their spiritual life as being an essential part of all that they are as a Child of God. When the self gets in the way of the healing process, our negative voices isolate our spiritual connectedness with our God and thus release energies, which are transferred from the therapist/s to the client leaving them in a vulnerable place. This is not what spiritual, divine healing is about.

Working with the Divine asks only this that we ‘Behold–Enfold–Hold and Listen’ to the inner sacred voices coming from God and communicating love and Light to our Heart Centre. This demands that we reconnect with all that we truly are as a co creator of God and that we listen to God in periods of silence. “Silence is the Sister of the Divine”.

Therapists who work from their head centre are often overwhelmed with their own personal issues. In light of what is revealed to them, they become focussed on results and need assurances. Negative energies are transmuted and transferred through their worries, their fears and insecurities. They lack the integrity that is required of them as therapists and healers. But we are invited each day to come back to the Source, the Creator God who loves us.

The Essenes, or Therapeutae, taught us the ancient therapy I now use to train therapists using Therapeutic Channelling working with sacred oils to anoint the feet of clients and therapists. This is another sacred tool or vehicle that connects us with our divinity and with Source, demonstrating God’s love for His children through the art of connecting one’s soul, mind and heart with God in the presence of the healing energies of the Lord Christ and the angelic realms. Silence is another powerful prayer that opens our heart to receive pure love, affirming us that we are whole, perfect and complete in the presence of God.

Through practical prayer – a lifting or raising up of our mind and heart before the Creator in the presence of Christ Consciousness and the angelic realms, messengers of God, we are empowered to take back our personal power and control and work from a place of selfless, reverent, healing love that embraces all and everything that we come into contact with as a healer or therapist working in partnership with the Divine God/dess.

As a nurse for almost thirty-eight years, I often valued the quiet periods of the 12-hour night shifts. Here I could connect with God in silent prayer. To assist nurses and therapists living and working in the fast lane, I have compiled a series of prayers and reflections for morning and night prayer for a seven day period aiming at empowering the light worker nurture a spiritual life and connect with Source even in the midst of activity.

For almost forty-eight years of my life, I lived and worked as a rescuer. Because of an inner child issue, I refused to self heal and put many obstacles in the path of self healing. It was when I became mentally ill due to taking Prozac for reactionary depression, that I had my 'wake up call from Source'. My work today is as a direct result of someone's prayers who were indeed answered and here I am. Through Trauma I was reborn.

It is my belief that each one of us who work in partnership with the angelic realms and the Christ energies are called to be a 'people of prayer' a light shining in the dark so that those who are living in spiritual impoverishment are empowered to self heal and embrace their divinity as a child of God, a co creator of Source and claim their rightful inheritance by divine birthright.

It is my simple belief that each one of us is 'called to serve Source' and many answer but life's difficulties somehow defer their firm commitment to follow through their ideals. I believe that each one of us receives a great gift from God. My gift is my voice and I know from the many e-mails and letters sent to me of other's testimonies about how God touched their lives through listening and absorbing the high vibrational healing energies in my voice. But, I am not alone. That time has indeed arrived when we each must connect with who we really are and ask ourselves 'why am I here and what have I to do to connect with my heart centre, my teacher – Christ Consciousness today. Please feel free to visit my website www.sean-bradley.com

About the Author

Sean is a Spiritual Life Coach, Healer, Teacher and author of several books and a series of personal recordings empowering many to embrace their God, the Christ energies and personal Angel, connecting with their child within. He is committed to supporting and empowering clients to experience inner peace, tranquillity and healing of Mind-Body-Spirit through one to one therapies or group work.

Born in Glasgow, Sean was brought up in Dublin. He felt that throughout his life he was being guided and that his life was mapped out. At the age of 16 he entered a monastic community and became a qualified nursing monk. Although he left the community when he was 24, he continued nursing for a further 30 years.

Sean now devotes his life to assisting clients to reclaim the dignity of their Spiritual Being by looking at the 'wounded child within' through the eyes of selfless love. Sean says, "I believe each one of us is touched by Angels / Christ energies, and we have within us, the gift of transferring their healing touch for the benefit of others." Known as the Barefoot Angel Man, because he works in his bare feet. Sean is perceived as the Therapist's therapist and healer. His natural abilities and sense of humour attract many to his inimitable style. Sean's humility and sense of spiritual direction and core values will touch your life. He practises what he preaches and lives a simple life of prayer, working from a place of absolute trust and integrity in service to the Christ /Angelic energies of the Four Spheres.

Sean now lives in Storth a small village in Cumbria, known as the ancient Celtic Kingdom of Rhegged with his partner and two dogs, Ellie and Winston.

